

MOVING HOME?

Your Simple Guide to Buying & Selling
(Without the Confusion)

aimee@hudsonconveyancing.co.uk
07592 769978

WELCOME!

Buying or selling a home can feel overwhelming – but it doesn't have to be.

I've created this guide to walk you through the process in a simple, clear way (without the legal jargon).

WHAT MAKES THINGS EASIER WITH ME:

- Same-day updates (no chasing)
- Direct contact with me – no call centres
- Clear, simple advice (no jargon)
- A smooth, digital process

ABOUT ME

I'm Aimee, a conveyancer at Hudson Conveyancing, and I focus on making the process as straightforward and stress-free as possible.

BUYING PROCESS

Offer Accepted

Once accepted, you will need to instruct your conveyancer and fill in the onboarding documents, such as client questionnaire and an ID check. You will also need to show your source of funds..

02

01

Draft Contract Pack

This is sent by the seller's conveyancer. It will include lots of documents relating to the property. Your conveyancer will review this and raise any legal enquiries they think are necessary.

03

Searches and Mortgage

Your conveyancer will order your searches and review the results of these when they are received. They will also report to you on the terms of mortgage offer.

04

Report

Your conveyancer will collate all of the property information and legal findings into a property report, which you will read and discuss with them to ensure you are happy.

05

Exchange and Completion

At this point, you can exchange! A completion date will be set in stone, which will be the day that you can collect the keys!

SELLING PROCESS

Offer Accepted

Once your offer has been accepted, you will need to instruct your conveyancer and fill in the onboarding documents, such as client questionnaire and an ID check.

01

02

Draft Contract Pack

Your conveyancer will send this to the buyers. You will need to complete some property questionnaires and provide any documents you have.

Enquiries raised and answered

The buyer's solicitor asks questions about the property. Your conveyancer may need your input on some of these questions.

03

04

Redemption and Fees

If you have a mortgage on the property, your conveyancer will need to order a redemption figure from the Lender. They will also need confirmation of estate agent fees and any other payments due out.

Exchange and Completion

At this point, you can exchange! A completion date will be set in stone, which will be the day that you can collect the keys!

05

Frequently Asked Questions

If you're wondering how any of this works – you are not alone. Here are the questions I get asked most!

- | | | |
|---|---|--|
| 1 | Do I need a deposit if I'm selling and buying at the same time? | Usually, your deposit comes from the sale of your current property. If your sale and purchase are linked, the deposit is often transferred up the chain. |
| 2 | What happens if my buyer/seller pulls out? | Unfortunately, until exchange, either party can withdraw. You would need to find a new buyer/a new property to purchase and start the process again. |
| 3 | Can I exchange and complete on the same day? | Yes, but it's less common and can be more stressful. Most transactions have a gap between exchange and completion. |
| 4 | What if I don't have a full 10% deposit? | This can often be negotiated, especially if you're in a chain. Your conveyancer will advise based on your situation. |
| 5 | Do I need to use the estate agent's recommended solicitor? | No - you are free to choose your own conveyancer. |

6	What costs should I expect when buying?	Costs can include legal fees, searches, survey fees, mortgage fees, and stamp duty (if applicable).
7	How long does the process usually take?	Most transactions take around 8–12 weeks, but this can vary depending on the chain and how quickly things progress.
8	What does my conveyancer actually do?	Your conveyancer handles all the legal work, carries out checks, liaises with other parties, and guides you through the process from start to finish.
9	Do I need to pay anything upfront?	Yes - there are usually initial costs such as searches or money on account before the transaction progresses.
10	Why do I need to provide source of funds?	This is a legal requirement to prevent fraud and money laundering. Your conveyancer needs to understand where your money is coming from before the transaction can proceed.
11	What if issues come up in the survey?	You can renegotiate the price, ask the seller to fix issues, or choose not to proceed.
12	What if I'm buying a leasehold property?	There are additional checks involved, including service charges and management information.

CONVEYANCING TERMINOLOGY EXPLAINED

A quick guide to the legal terms you'll hear during the process

TERMS

DEFINITIONS

1. Exchange of Contracts	When transaction becomes legally binding and a completion date is set.
2. Completion	The day ownership transfers and the buyer receives the keys.
3. Chain	A series of linked buyers and sellers - delays can happen if one part is held up.
4. Searches	Checks carried out with local authorities about the property (eg: planning, roads, environmental issues)
5. Survey	A report that checks the condition of the property
6. Enquiries	Questions raised about the property by the buyer's conveyancer.
7. Freehold	You own the property and the land it stands on.
8. Leasehold	You own the property for a fixed period, but not the land it sits on.
9. Management Company	A company responsible for maintaining shared areas and collecting service charges.
10. Mortgage Offer	The Lender's formal confirmation they will lend you the money.
11. Draft Contract Pack	The legal documents sent by the seller's solicitor to start the transaction.
12. Title Deeds	Documents proving ownership of the property.
13. Indemnity Insurance	A policy used to protect against certain legal risks when they cannot be resolved.
14. Stamp Duty	A tax paid (if applicable) when purchasing property.
15. Deposit	A percentage of the purchase price paid at exchange.

READY TO GET STARTED?

Buying or selling a home doesn't have to feel overwhelming.

With the right support, the process can be clear, straightforward, and far less stressful than you might expect.

Whether you're just starting out or have done this before, I'm here to make everything clear and simple!

aimee@hudsonconveyancing.co.uk
07592 769978